HONGRONG, SEPTEMBER 7TH, 1888. We have several times had occasion lately to refer to the smoothness with which the transit pass system has worked in the North and to compare it with the unfortunate state of things existing in the South. For many years past the system has worked without complaint and full confidence in it has long been established. This satisfactory state papers received yesterday, been disturbed. A correspondent writes from Chinking to here with the barrier officials, who are collecting Lo-ti-shui, a sort of lekin, on all goods sent inland under transit pass; these are not taxed en route, but when they get to their the transit pass system nugatory, and threaten to follow merchandize covered by transit I have goods detained both at Haia-kuan June, 1864. As to the immediate cause of the new levy, we quote the following remarks from the Mercury :- " Peking is eminently spendthrift, and like spendthrifts in general is usually in the last stage of impecuniosity and raggedness.
